BOASTS OF "LEFTY LOUIE" AND "GYP" MAKE MOSS ANGRY

Acting District Attorney Says If Police Have Not Known Where Rosenthal Murder Suspects Were They Are Inefficient.

GOFF BEGINS SECRET PROBE OF METHODS USED BY POLICE

Central Office Men Accused of Suppressing Important Evidence Found—Gunmen at Last Arrested Identified as Members of Slayers' Gang.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The direct charge that, if the police have not known where "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg and "Gyp the Blood" Horowitz have been during the two months they were fugitives from justice, then they are too inefficient to be police officers, was made at the district attorney's office to-day.

With more than 700 police and a score of the supposedly best detectives on duty there, Moss wants to know why the men were not picked up, especially as they were accompanied by their wives, who are supposed to be well known to the detectives working on the case.

John F. McIntyre, Becker's lawyer, left for Hot Springs to-day to interrogate the material witnesses turned up there. District Attorney Whitman is on the ground, and has wired his assistants here that he has been convinced that there is absolutely no truth in the McIntyre contention that Sam Scheppe declared Becker was the innocent victim of a conspiracy.

Justice Goff has begun a secret inquiry to determine whether the police concealed or destroyed evidence they found in the apartment where Rosenberg and Horowitz were arrested. Easing his action on an accusation laid before him by Acting District Attorney Moss, the Central Office men who searched the apartment after Rosenberg and Horowitz had been taken to Police Headquarters, supposed or alleged to suppress important evidence, the justice brought to bear his authority as a committing magistrate in "John Doe."

It is known that one of the points on which information is sought is whether or not "Lefty Louie" and "Gyp the Blood" were tracked and caught in the manner described by Deputy Commissioner Dougherty.

GETTING AT TRUTH. Justice Goff's investigation is expected to determine the falsity or truth of certain stories that the gunmen virtually surrendered, that is, for reasons of their own, they finally let the police know where they were hiding.

Although there are many side lines in the newest inquiry undertaken, the main point to be determined is whether or not the arrests were opera bouffe affairs, executed melodramatically, after Rosenberg and Horowitz had been advised by the persons upon whom they drew for support while in hiding to give themselves up in a slightly different fashion from that followed by the amiable Rose and the nonchalant Valton.

Louis Kroon, the waiter whose dramatic identification of Bridgie Webber and Jack Sullivan as men whom he had seen in front of the Metropole when Herman Rosenthal was shot, placed that fact in the hands of the accused murderers, surprised a crowded court room by identifying Rosenberg and Horowitz as two of the four gunmen who killed Rosenthal.

THREATS BY REDS ENDED HIS TOUR

Prince Katsura Returned Home Through Fear of European Anarchists.

TOKYO, Sept. 17.—That Prince Katsura abandoned the European tour he was on when the Mikado was taken ill because of anarchist threats, making the ruler's illness merely an excuse, is current gossip here.

Consequently, Prince Katsura, except for his meetings with the Premier and minister of foreign affairs, was confined to his hotel during his whole stay in St. Petersburg. Moreover, many governments warned him to exercise special caution because the anarchists were plotting against his life.

FOUGHT IN PARLIAMENT. BUDAPEST, Sept. 17.—The Hungarian Parliament opened with Count Tisza, speaker of the lower house, was greeted with hoots and cat calls. Several fist fights occurred on the floor.

MURDER PRISONERS AND CAPTORS

HARRY HOROWITZ, alias "GYP THE BLOOD," and LOUIS ROSENZWEIG, known as "LEFTY LOUIE," who are charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, on July 16, are seen in the custody of their captors, following their arrest in a small flat in Brooklyn, N. Y., Saturday.

Whitman for their arrest is void, as their captors are members of the police force. The prisoners are now in jail awaiting trial.

WILL STICK TO OUTLAW LOVER UNTIL THE END

Maud Iroler, Sweetheart of Edwards, Is Willing to Wait Years.

MURDERERS SEEK COUNSEL Returned to Virginia, Captured Fugitives Will Be Arraigned at Hillsville.

ROANOKE, Va., Sept. 17.—"I'm going to stick to Wes to the finish," was the statement of Maud Iroler, 18 years old, sweetheart of Wesley Edwards, arrested at Des Moines with Sidna Allen for complicity in the Hillsville Court House tragedy of March 14.

Letters she received from Edwards while he was at Des Moines have been seized by the officers. These are said to be the most incriminating evidence possible to secure from the girl.

The prisoners will be arraigned at Hillsville, where five persons were murdered by the clan six months ago. Sidna Allen and Edwards to-day began negotiations for counsel to defend them at the trial.

BRYAN DENOUNCES THIRD TERM IDEA

As a Reformer, He Says, Roosevelt Comes at 11:55 and Asks for Whole Thing.

PUEBLO, Colo., Sept. 17.—William J. Bryan finished his brief Colorado campaign with an address here to-day, boarding his train at noon for Montana, Utah and the Pacific Coast. En route to California the Nebraska will deliver speeches in both states, speaking from the rear platform of a special train.

Throughout his Colorado speeches Bryan laid particular stress upon what he called the necessity of checking the third term idea fostered by Roosevelt. He denounced the Oyster Bay statesman more severely than he denounced Taft, and in his Colorado Spring address, Roosevelt is an eleven-hour reformer and hardier than that. Instead he comes at five minutes to 12, and asks for the whole thing.

MYSTERY SHROUDS TRAGIC DEATH OF WASHINGTON GIRL

Held by Hair from Seventh Story Window Until It Pulled Out.

FATHER TO INVESTIGATE Summoned by Telegram Signed by Daughter Who Had Been Melancholic.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The mystery surrounding the death of Miss Julia Wood, who died at midnight after a fall from the seventh story of the West Point apartments, 335 Ninety-fifth st., still persists, as Mrs. Henry Thompson declares the girl fell accidentally and did not commit suicide.

Henry C. Wood, chief of the naval academy division, Navy Department, and will investigate his daughter's death. He came in response to a telegram signed with his daughter's name, which asked him to come at once.

Residents of Riverside Drive for two or three blocks were horrified by shrieks that came from a rear seventh story window in the West Point apartment house, when Mrs. Thompson held Miss Wood by her hair and tried to pull her swaying body back into the window.

For five minutes Miss Wood dangled in the air and struggled frantically to get out of Mrs. Thompson's clutches. Both screaming at the top of their voices, and then her long hair gave way at the roots and she dropped straight into the areaway at almost the moment when people rushed in to help the couple and a woman who was vainly striving to save her.

Miss Wood came from Washington two weeks ago to visit Mrs. Thompson. She was ill and in charge of trained nurses. While the nurse was out of her room last night Miss Wood opened the window and started to climb to the sill. Mrs. Thompson was attracted to the room by the noise and reached the door just as she was leaning out of the window.

She ran toward her and caught hold of her. There was a struggle, accompanied by loud cries. The ill woman threw herself forward and Mrs. Thompson got her hand in Miss Wood's hair as her body dropped outside the window.

HELD WRIGGLING GUEST. Bracing herself as well as she could Mrs. Thompson tugged to hold the wriggling woman up. She was not equal to the task of dragging her guest back into the room. She realized, too, that such a thing was a physical impossibility and momentarily feared that a strong tug might cause the hair to tear from the scalp. "So she leaned over and hung on her own hair, and some one would come to the rescue.

ALABAMA BANDITS ROB MAIL TRAIN

Passengers Aboard Not Molested on Southern Railway—Sheriff's Posse Makes Search of Countryside.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 17.—The Memphis train on the Southern Railway, eastbound, was held up and robbed at Stevenson, Ala., early today. The mail car was entered and the registered mail looted. Passengers were not molested. What the robbers got is not known here.

Covering the mail clerks with revolvers the two bandits bound three of them and ordered the fourth to open all the bags of registered mail. Letters supposed to contain money were dumped into a sack.

Then the fourth clerk was bound and one of the robbers pulled the emergency cord. The train stopped and, when the engineer did not get the signal to proceed, he walked back and found the clerks, almost autotically under a pile of mail-bags.

DEMOCRATS WILL WAGE HOT FIGHT IN PENNSYLVANIA

Orators to Criss-cross Keystone State in Effort to Defeat Republicans.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Determined if possible to wrest Pennsylvania from Republican control, the Democratic National Committee announced preliminary plans for one of the most strenuous campaigns ever undertaken in any one state. Within ten days it will be criss-crossing the state, promulgating party doctrines in every town and hamlet.

The campaign will be headed by Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, who will spend four days in the Keystone State. Other orators will include Oscar W. Underwood, Senator from Alabama, and Henry C. Lodge, Senator from Massachusetts.

THE TONGUE OVER THE NEW JERSEY DEMOCRATIC SENATORIAL SITUATION was put directly up to the National Committee body which will decide whether John W. Westcott of Camden or former Congressman William Hughes of Paterson will withdraw.

This action followed the discovery that with respect to strength divided, James Smith, Jr., bitterly opposed by Governor Wilson, would probably be successful at the primaries. Both Hughes and Westcott conferred with Acting Chairman McAdoo and Senator O'Connor.

"I don't care about public office," said Westcott after talking with McAdoo. "I am working for a great cause. I am making demands myself, but I will withdraw."

Want and Destitution Follow Storm's Wake

Journal reporters covered the entire course of the storm between Long Branch and Collamer this morning. On all sides it was found that the suffering was intense. Several families had been left without homes, and are now depending upon the charities of their neighbors. Others, and there are many, slept last night in roofless houses and exposed to the elements. Several families have been completely wiped out. Everywhere poverty was manifest.

The engineer of the express and the rear flagman of the limited, who have been out on bail since the coroner's inquest, will now be discharged.

MAKING HAZING CRIME

RALPHIGH, N. C., Sept. 17.—Resolutions were drafted at a special meeting of President Venable and the trustees of the University of North Carolina asking legislation to make obscene hazing a criminal offense. This action was taken in view of the killing of William Rand-Friday morning by four hazers.

At Long Branch a reporter found the proprietor, Benjamin Maurer, still stunned with the extent of disaster that has overtaken him. (Continued on Sixth Page.) Tornado Insurance, S. F. Smith & Co.
