Counting rules

1. Individuals older than 16 are considered adults, and old to enough to decide on their own destination. They count as an arrival.
2. Single adult children traveling with parents are counted as separate arrivals.
3. Brothers and sisters (16 and older) traveling together are counted as separate arrivals.
4. Husband and wife, or wife following her husband, are counted as a single arrival.
5. Underage children traveling with family or relatives are not counted as separate arrivals.
