Introduction

In this document the available records were used to reconstruct extended McGrath and Long families in the Thurles and Cashel Poor Law Unions. The starting point was the single families which had been already constructed from the Civil Records (1). Therefore this process will miss families which had moved from the Cashel or Thurles Districts or had emigrated from Ireland prior to 1864. The main purpose in the reconstruction of these families is to allow as many connections as possible to be made with other families. The desire is to go beyond just parents and children and push as far back as possible to construct multi-generational families.

The records involved in this reconstruction activity are the parish records from the NLI site, the civil records from the Irish Genealogy site, Griffith's Valuation, and the 1901 and 1911 census records on the Irish National Archives site. The civil marriage records are very useful in this family reconstruction exercise since they contain the fathers' names of the couple being married. This provides a linkage back to the previous generation. In addition there seems to be a strong adherence to the Irish naming tradition during this time period, at least as far as the 1st and 2nd sons and daughters. In most cases this tradition gives the names of the children's paternal and maternal grandparents, if there are enough children. Another necessary element in this reconstruction is geography in the form of the family residences which many times are found in the various records. This piece of information can be challenging, beginning with the sometimes appalling spelling and penmanship found in the hand written records. The IreAtlas Townland Database (2) is very useful in comparing a handwritten townland name with the various townlands in the database. The site allows searching that isn't limited to only an exact match. It allows searches with only a portion of the name located at various positions within the townland name. Once a correct spelling of the residence, usually a townland, has been found then the Townland web site (3) can be used to find a map of the townland location which also shows the townland's boundaries. Gravestone inscriptions and old family genealogies can be very helpful but these are more difficult to obtain and require a good deal of luck.

In preparation for this reconstruction exercise two separate transcription projects were conducted to build up families from the parish registers (baptism records) (4) and separately from the civil birth registration records (1). These family groupings were sometimes complimented with marriage and death records. The results of these transcription projects furnished individual family trees which were the raw material that fed this larger family reconstruction process.

The assembly of families from the baptism and birth records is governed primarily by the names of the parents but it is also guided by the family residence and gaps between the children's birth dates. The automatic construction of family trees and tables from the parish baptism records is a strictly parish by parish process. A certain amount of ambiguity is contained in this family assembly process in that parents of identical names, residing in the same townland, cannot be easily distinguished from one another. An additional source of ambiguity in working with the baptism records arises when a family moves from one townland or parish to another. It is only when the individual families are connected together that some of these ambiguities can be discovered and resolved.

The vehicles used for assembling and organizing the family records are a combination of family trees and pedigree charts which allow a concentration of the information. The pedigree charts are used to extend the family back in time and display a reduced amount of information (years of births/baptisms, deaths and marriages). This minimizes the space required to represent an individual couple so that more generations and families can be accommodated in a structure that will still fit on a single page. This format was chosen because it allows a concentration of the information, which improves the ability to spot inconsistencies and increases the probability of finding new family connections.

This reconstruction process has an intuitive element which is guided by the minimization of inconsistencies among the various records. However, the results are not always perfect and more research is needed to ensure the accuracy of the proposed family connections. It is hoped that this minimization approach will lead to the most accurate reconstruction of these families possible, based on the currently available information. These structures also provide a useful summary of the best estimates of the ancestral names and serve as guides for future research.

The diagram following the table of contents shows how the original records were first combined into two sets of family records (church and civil) and were then used in the creation of this paper. These family record documents (5) are available on the mcgrathsearch.com web site:

Several papers (6) that had already been started benefitted from the multi-generation family connections developed in this paper. These papers are listed on the right hand side of the diagram. It is hoped that some of the families in this document will be found to be connected to the McGrath and Long families in the Moyaliff-Holycross area and if so they will be integrated into the larger document currently under development: "Reaching Across The Penal Times."

Record Flow Diagram

The “Pre-Birth Baptisms”

The following excerpt will explain the bolding, underlining and highlighting used when the church baptism and civil birth records overlap and in some cases the baptism date precedes the birth date.

From: “The Civil Records” - 10-15-18

<http://mcgrathsearch.com/FamiliesInIreland/Civil%20Records/The%20Civil%20Records%2010-15-18.pdf>

“These observations have been made while searching the civil records for two surnames: McGrath and Long, in two Registration Districts: Thurles and Cashel. Depending on the RC parish, the parish register records available online overlap the civil records for about a 15 year period. Upon comparing the civil and church records in this overlap period the existence of a “Pre-Birth Baptism” phenomenon has been discovered. This phenomenon is characterized by a birth date in the civil record which occurs after the baptism date found in the church record.

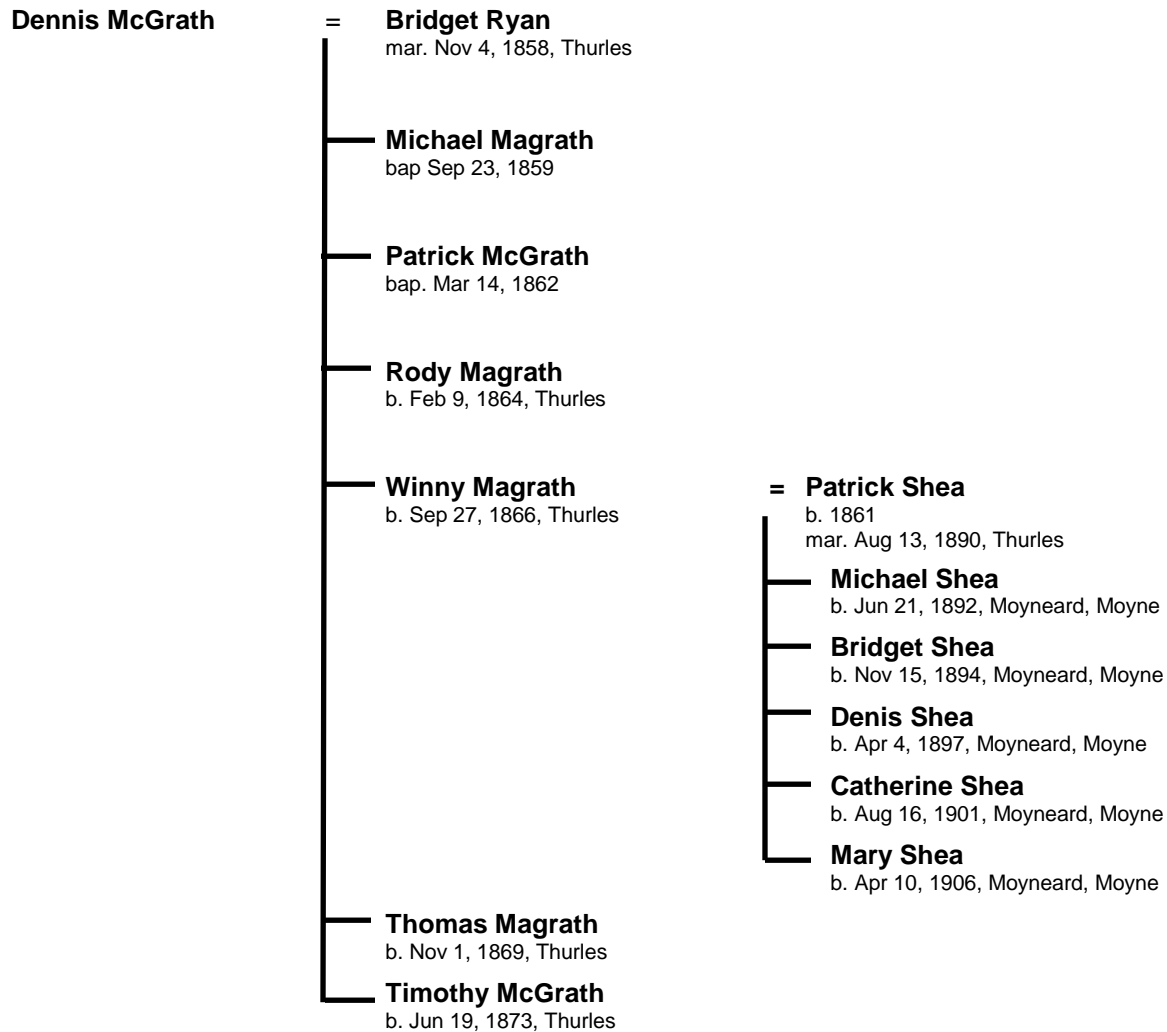

“Examples of these phenomena should be found in these papers in Sections 1 and 4 (see document description in the Process section of this paper). Many of the families in these sections contain both birth records and baptism records. The names in the baptism records that exhibit these phenomena are underlined along with the corresponding name in the birth records. The date of the birth record is highlighted in yellow when there are matching records (same person) in the birth records and baptism records. Some of the baptism records came from a previous project and are summarized by just names and dates while for some families the baptism records were newly transcribed from the National Library of Ireland site and appear in more detail. “

The McGraths of Thurles

★ Dennis McGrath and Bridget Ryan - Thurles

(s/o Michael McGrath and Winnie LNU)

(d/o Patrick Ryan and Mother)

Church Records - Thurles RC

In the table below are the only Denis Magraths found in the Thurles registers. They are all of sufficient age to have married in 1858. However none are compatible with the assumption that Denis and Bridget followed the Irish naming tradition in selecting names for their children. Under this assumption Dennis' parents would be Michael and Winnie. No marriage record could be found for a Michael McGrath and a Winnie in the 1830-1845 time period in the area around Thurles. There was a Michael McGrath of Ballycahill and Holycross RC parish who married Mary Ryan and they had a son Denis who was baptized on December 28, 1831. The identity of Denis McGrath's parents remains an open question.

Edmond McGrath = Mary Healy (Thurles) James McGrath - Jul 26, 1828 Denis Magrath - Dec 28, 1831 Mary Magrath - Feb 27, 1834	John McGrath = Margaret Collins (Thurles) Denis McGrath - Mar 1, 1835 John McGrath - Mar 1, 1835

Michael Magrath - Sep 23, 1859 - Probably died young

Patrick McGrath - Mar 14, 1862

Rodger McGrath - Feb 10, 1864

Winny - missing (Sep 27, 1866)

Michael McGrath - Sep 28, 1866

Thomas McGrath - Oct 15, 1869

Timothy - missing (Jun 19, 1873) - Thurles online baptism records end Apr 28, 1870.

Michael McGrath's baptism record in the Thurles RC parish register. There is no church record for Winnie's baptism. In the civil records there is a Winny but no Michael. Winny McGrath's marriage record (to Patrick Shea) showed that her father was named Denis and the 1901 census showed that her mother's name was Bridget. Her existence is better established than Michael's.

MAP - Townlands in the vicinity of Pallashill, Inch parish

There are a number of townlands that appear in the records which are located very close to the townland of Pallashill. This could imply that some of these McGrath families are related. The St. Michael's Cemetery, where Thomas Ryan and Ellen Magrath are buried, is located in Rosmult, Templebeg civil parish, Co. Tipperary (Green oval).

* Thomas Ryan and Ellen McGrath Pedigree *

Three sets of parents' names are based on the naming tradition. The fourth set of parents didn't have enough baptism records to allow this naming method to be used. However, the witnesses at the wedding of William Ryan and Catherine Long were possibly Catherine's brothers and their family was known. But then again, this is all tentative and remains to be verified.

The picture to the left was taken at the Templebeg Cemetery (Templemichael Church) during a 2006 trip to Ireland. When I took this photo I had no idea that I would eventually find the information useful. There were just so many family connections documented there that I couldn't resist taking a picture. The Thomas Ryan and Ellen McGrath family are described on the left hand side.

Coolbawn is a sub-townland located in the western half of the townland of Moyaliff, in the civil parish of Moyaliff. Although Coolbawn is located in Upperchurch and Drombane RC parish the church at Holycross (Ballycahill and Holycross RC parish) is much closer, which explains why William and Catherine's children were baptized there. Catherine Long's parents were not deduced from the family's use of the naming tradition. The reasoning follows from the names of the witnesses at Catherine and William's wedding as shown below and on the next page.

Church Records - Ballycahill and Holycross RC

Marriage

February 3, 1839 - William Ryan married Cathe Long, Res: None

Wit. John Long and James Long

★ Catherine Long's Parents?

The above family tree was taken from: "Reaching Across The Penal Times" The tentative addition of Catherine Long to this family might be stretching things a little bit but the witnesses at William Ryan and Catherine Long's wedding were James and John Long. Based on that and Catherine's estimated birth year of about 1815 - 1820 (based on her 1839 marriage) then it is proposed that the James and John Long marriage witnesses were her brothers. Therefore it follows that John Long and Mary Magrath above are Catherine's parents.

* Matthew McGrath and Johanna McGrath Pedigree *

The oldest generation in this pedigree chart is represented by Philip Magrath and Winifred Ryan. A careful analysis of the Upperchurch-Drombane church records suggests this connection but the details of that analysis and addition supporting information will be presented and discussed in detail in "Reaching Across The Penal Times."

Patrick McGrath and Nora Keating - New August 2022

In compiling the paper Reconstructing Families From the Records, there are many lines to follow as the number family members grow with each generation. Some lines are easier to follow than others but eventually the search will end due to lack of records, leads, or just time. As the search involving the Matthew McGrath and Margaret Costello family was coming to a close there was one last census record that looked like it might belong to that family so that it was tossed in at the end with a comment about a possible connection. That record is shown below along with the comment.

1911 - Patrick McGrath - house 4 in Aughnaheela (Borrisoleigh, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Mc Grath	Patrick	58	Male	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Nora	38	Female	Wife	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Michael	6	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Matthew	5	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Francis	3	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Margaret M	1	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic

“Possible relative to Matthew since Matthew and Francis appear among the children’s names. Patrick and Nora had been married 7 years. Nora had given birth to 5 children all of whom were still alive, however only four of the children were living at home. The parents could read and write but none of the children, who were 6 and under, could read or write.”

In early 2019 the Reconstructing paper was uploaded to the website mcgrathsearch.com in the hopes that someone might recognize their own connection to one of the families described in the paper. Ultimately it is hoped that many of these families constructed from old records will be connected to present day descendants who might be able to provide more details about their family’s history. In August 2022, Seamus McGrath (seamus160452@gmail.com) of Thurles recognized the family in the 1911 census shown above and sent the author an email. Seamus had recognized Patrick McGrath as his grandfather and had some additional questions about the family.

In the remainder of this section the records which connect the Patrick McGrath of the 1911 census to the Matthew McGrath and Margaret Costello family from the original Reconstructing paper will be shown.

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Keating	Nora	28	Female	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
Keating	Kate	25	Female	Sister	Roman Catholic
Power	John	31	Male	Servant	Roman Catholic

Patrick and Nora were living with their respective families prior to their marriage in 1904.

1911 - Patrick McGrath - house 4 in Aughnaheela (Borrisoleigh, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Mc Grath	Patrick	58	Male	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Nora	38	Female	Wife	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Michael	6	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Matthew	5	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Francis	3	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Margaret M	1	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic

Patrick and Nora had been married 7 years. Nora had given birth to 5 children all of whom were still alive, however only four of the children were living at home. The parents could read and write but none of the children, who were 6 and under, could read or write.

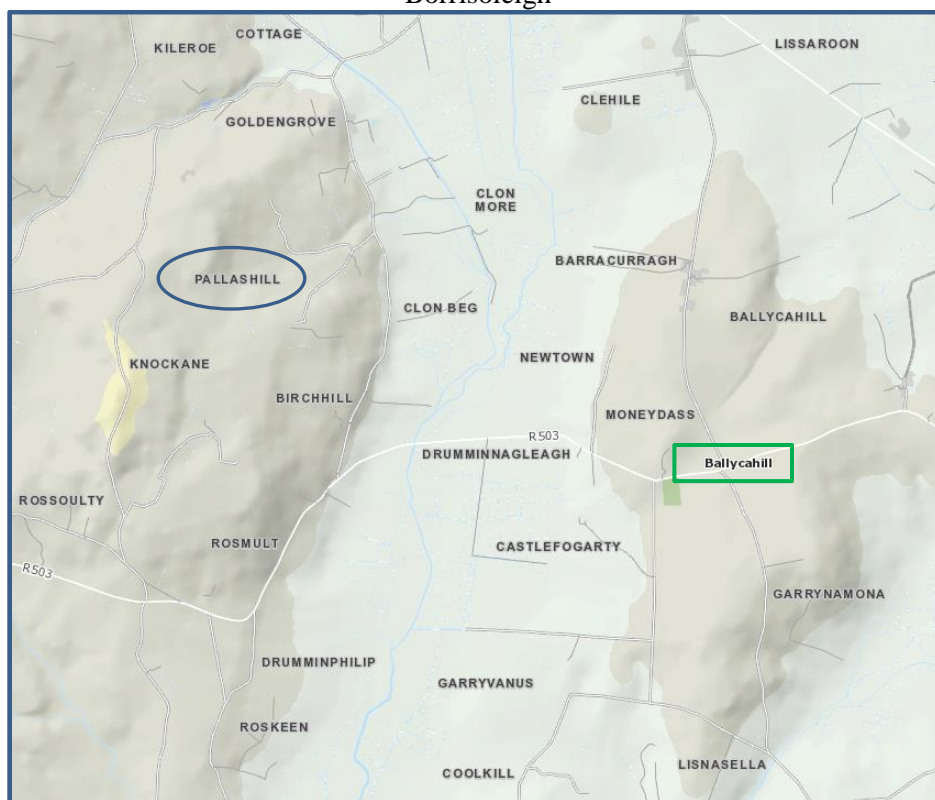

After further research it was determined that this Patrick is the son of Matthew McGrath and Margaret Costello – his age should be 48, NOT 58. Nora claimed to have given birth to 5 children and all were still alive. Her son Patrick, born September 27, 1908 is missing from this census. However, the following census for the Kelly family living next door to the McGraths shows that 2 year-old Patrick McGrath was visiting them at the time that the census enumerator visited. The census was taken on Sunday, April 2, 1911.

Kelly	Mary A	10	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
Kelly	Johanna	80	Female	Mother	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Patrick	2	Male	Visitor	Roman Catholic

The Keating family and later Patrick and Nora lived in these townlands just north of the village of Borrisoleigh

Patrick McGrath and his family was from Pallas Hill, Inch parish, Co. Tipperary

The connection of John McGrath (1816), son of James and Margaret McGrath, as the husband of Winifred Connell is based on (1) a common townland, (2) the naming tradition, as applied to John and Winifred McGrath's children, and (3) age consistency: John's 1816 baptism is consistent with a 1854 marriage.

March 11, 1830 - Daniel Ryan, Par. James Ryan and Bridget Connors, Tipperary RC, Res: None, Sps. John and Mary Hogan.

Both Daniel candidates are of approximately the same age and would have been 22 at the time of the February 8, 1853 marriage to Margaret McGrath. The 2nd Daniel has the expected parental names (James and Bridget) based on the naming tradition but is further away from Turraheen (marriage location). While the 1st Daniel only has part of the expected parental names (James) the location of Upperchurch is closer to Turraheen. At this point the 1st Daniel appears to be the Daniel Ryan who married Margaret McGrath.

June 11, 1830 - Margaret McGrath, Par. William McGrath and Ellen Doyle, Clonoulty RC, Res: None.

The 2nd Margaret would have been a 15-year old bride whereas the 1st Margaret would have been a 20-year old bride and both are from Turraheen. The 3rd and 4th Margaret are both from the same RC parish as were the 1st and 2nd so location isn't an issue, however, both of these Margarets are a bit on the old side. The favorite here is the 1st Margaret because of her age and she was the only one with parental names consistent with the naming tradition.

Marriage

July 29, 1857 - Patrick MacGrath married Margaret Shanahan, Clonoulty RC, Res: Stucke
Wit: Michael Dwyer and Brigid Ryan. Priest: Rev. Thomas O'Carroll, P.P.

NOTE: The name Mary Shanahan only showed up once. Every other record referred to Patrick McGrath's wife as Margaret Shanahan. If it is assumed that James and Winfred used the naming tradition in naming their children then James' parents were named Patrick and Margaret. Assuming that "Mary" was a mistake is the choice most consistent with all the other records.

The Longs of Raheen, Holycross

* Raheen Long Pedigree *

The baptism records of the children Kennedy Long, Lawrence Long, Jun, and John Long, Jun are found in the Ballycahill and Holycross RC parish registers. The existence of the Sen / Jun pairs is supported by the Griffith's Valuation (GV) for Raheen - shown in the table below.

The church records gave Lisnagrough as the residence of a Lawrence and John Long. It can be consistently assumed that these records belong to the "Jun" part of the pairs. Lisnagrough is the next townland southwest of Raheen. This identification means that Lawrence, Jun and John Jun had moved to Raheen by the time of the GV.

All the Longs who appeared in the GV for Raheen were occupying consecutively labeled lots. This geographic closeness makes it plausible to assume that all three of these Long families might be related. The dashed lines at the top of the pedigree symbolize the possible existence of a connection.

Kennedy Long was not found in the GV for Raheen, although it was his last known residence <sup>1</sup>, since the family had immigrated to Hoosick Falls, NY in 1848. The connection to Richard Long was based on the assumption that Kennedy Long's first son was named after his grandfather. More information on the Kennedy Long family is found in the following documents.

The Long and McGrath Families - Neighbors on Both Sides of the Ocean

Lawrence Long - multiple possibilities. These possibilities are listed in order of highest probability (author's opinion). The associated townland from the Ballycahill and Holycross parish records was the determining factor in identifying the most likely Laurence Long.

Husband	Wife	Townland (Parish Records)
Laurence Long	Margaret Ryan	Lisnagrough
Laurence Long	Catherine Ryan	Cormackstown
Laurence Long	Mary Bryan	Rathkennan
Laurence Long	Mary Ryan	Cloghane

Laurence Long = Margaret Ryan

mar. Feb 13, 1825, Clonoulty (See Laurence Long and Margaret Ryan details later in this paper)
(Thomas Long 1824 - 1901) - not in parish records which began in 1835.

James Long - Mar 27, 1836

Judith Long - Oct 15, 1838

Ellen Long - Jan 23, 1842, Lisnagrough

Richard Long - Jul 30, 1844, Lisnagrough

Nancy Long - May 26, 1846, Lisnagrough

If this is Laurence Jr., it would be expected that his first son would have been named Laurence. Given the 1835 commencement year of the Ballycahill-Holycross church records there could be other children prior to James. If this were Laurence Sr. then there would have been room for a Laurence Jr. to appear in the GV, although he might be on the younger side for being an occupier of land. In this case Laurence Jr. and Thomas would be brothers.

John Long = Anne Burke

Catharine Long - Apr 19, 1835

Norry Long - Sep 12, 1841, Lisnagrough

Margaret Long - Jan 7, 1844, Lisnagrough

There is a John Long in the Ballycahill and Holycross records who was associated with Lisnagrough. Like Laurence Long, John must have also moved to Raheen by the time of the GV but this is speculation at this point.

Patrick Long

So far no Patrick Long has surfaced in the other records who could be placed in the townland of Raheen at the time of the Griffith's Valuation. In a later section of this paper there is a Thomas Long who will be discussed. He was labeled there for convenience as "of Grange," while the Minton Papers describe this Thomas as "of Tubrid" (subtownland in the northern portion of Raheen townland). The father of this Thomas was named Patrick (from Thomas Long's 1892 death certificate). As indicated in the diagram on the previous page this Thomas might be the brother of Patrick Jun.

Tubrid is a sub-townland along the northern edge of the Raheen townland in Holycross civil parish.

* Tubrid Long - McGrath Pedigree *

Laurence Long and Margaret Ryan of Lisnagrough (from their children's baptism records) have been identified as the Laurence Long Jun. family who were occupying land in the townland of Raheen at the time of the Griffith's Valuation. This assignment was made since Thomas Long's (1824-1901) first son was named Laurence and his first four children were born in Tubrid, Lisnagrough, Farney Bridge and Tubrid (1862-1867). However, since Thomas Long's first child was born in 1862, at the time of the GV Thomas was most likely living at home, which would lead to the assumption that his father was the Laurence Jun. and not the Sr.

Laurence and Margaret's granddaughter, Ellen Long, married Patrick McGrath (Glenbane) and they had their children in Tubrid (sub-townland in Raheen) during the first decade of the 20th century.

The civil marriage records of Michael (1868), Margaret (1872), Anne (1873), Patrick (1874), and Mary (1875) support their father's name being James. Margaret had no children but the names of Patrick McGrath and Ellen Long's children reinforce James as Patrick's father. The census records for 1901 and 1911 furnished the information on the name of James' (1841) wife as Johanna and the names of the other children.

Oddly there were no civil or church records of James and Johanna's marriage. No baptism or birth records could be found for any of their children. The rest of this family has been reconstructed solely from the census records. The grandchildren found in the census would be children of one of James and Johanna's sons: James, Michael or John. Similarly to the rest of the family no grandchildren named Johanna and John McGrath could be found in the civil records. The group of names which comprise this family could not be found anywhere else in Ireland. If not for the census records this family would not exist.

Church Records - James McGrath

December 5, 1841 - James McGrath, Par. Jas. McGrath and Margt Hill, Clonoulty RC,
Res: Ballagh, Sps. James Horan and Alicia Murphy.

NOTE: This is the only child listed for these parents. Based on the naming tradition assumption these might be the parents of James McGrath of Glenbane. [[See also Edmund McGrath and Margaret Hill in the McGrath section of this paper.]]

Census Records

1901 - James McGrath - house 3 in Glenbane Lower (Gaile, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
McGrath	James	60	Male	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Hanna	45	Female	Wife	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Michael	30	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Anne	28	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Mary	26	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
McGrath	John	27	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Hanna	4	Female	Grand Daughter	Roman Catholic

Gaile is the Election District while Glenbane Lower is in the Holycross civil parish. The James McGrath shown in the 1901 and 1911 census is possibly the father of Margaret and Patrick McGrath according to the information found in their marriage records (1895 and 1904, respectively). Patrick hadn't married until 1904 but apparently was not living at home in 1901. See the 1901 census record for the Philip Walsh household below.

1901 - Philip Walsh - house 1 in Glenbane Lower (Gaile, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Walsh	Philip	60	Male	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
Walsh	Mary	45	Female	Wife	Roman Catholic
Walsh	James	20	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
Walsh	Kate	18	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Patrick	24	Male	Servant	Roman Catholic
Ryan	Kate	21	Female	Servant	Roman Catholic

Patrick McGrath (24) is the son of James and Johanna McGrath. He was probably working as a hired hand on the Walsh farm.

1911 - James McGrath - house 7 in Glenbane Lower (Gaile, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Mc Grath	James	72	Male	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Johanna	73	Female	Wife	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	James	45	Male	Son (Widower)	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Michael	43	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Mary	27	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Johanna	13	Female	Grand Daughter	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	John	7	Male	Grand Son	Roman Catholic

James and Johanna had been married 46 years and Johanna had given birth to 8 children, 7 of who were still alive at the time of the 1911 census. James (Sr.) was a retired farmer, his sons James and Michael were stone masons, and his daughter Mary was a dressmaker.

The Grandchildren

In this approach it is assumed that James McGrath is the father of both Johanna and John. Below is a birth record for a Hanna with a James as her father. The residence, Holycross, is geographically closer to Glenbane. Hanna was living with her grandparents at the time of the 1901 census and her parents (no marriage record found) were still alive and they would have a son named John in 1904 (no birth record found). Prior to 1911 James' wife died and he and his children, Johanna and John, were all living with James' parents at the time of the 1911 census.

1901 - James McGrath - house 2 in Holycross (Holycross, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Occupation	Religion
Mc Grath	James	30	Male	Head of Family	Stone Mason	RC
Mc Grath	Mary A	24	Female	Wife		RC
Mc Grath	Kathleen	3	Female	Daughter		RC
Mc Grath	Mary	2	Female	Daughter		RC
Cleary	Catherine	55	Female	Mother in Law	House keeper	RC
Cleary	Henry	13	Male	Brother in Law	Student	RC

In 1901 James McGrath (Jr.) was living with his wife and children, while his oldest daughter, Hanna was living with her grandparents.

July 29, 1905 - Pauline McGrath, Par. James McGrath (Laborer, Holycross) and Mary Farrell, Res: Holycross, Informant: Mary McGrath, Mother, Holycross, Reg: September 8, 1905.

Possible disposition of James McGrath and MaryAnne Farrell's children.

After the death of his wife Maryanne in 1910, James moved back in with his parents with his children Hanna (who had been living there in 1901 also) and John. The census of 1911 provided the answer to the question of what happened to James' other children.

Most Plausible

1911 - John Wade - house 7 in Glenbane Upper (Gaile, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Wade	John	37	Male	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
Wade	Johanna	40	Female	Wife	Roman Catholic
Wade	Bridget	7	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Mary	11	Female	Cousin	Roman Catholic
McGrath	James	9	Male	Cousin	Roman Catholic

1911 - Residents of a house 8 in Kiltillane (Templemore Urban, Tipperary)

St. Augustine's Industrial School

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Mc Grath	Pauline	5	Female	-	Roman Catholic
Mc Grath	Kathleen	13	Female	-	Roman Catholic

Hanna (13) and John (7) went with their father to live with their grandparents. The middle kids Mary (11) and James (9) went to live with Wade cousins, also in Glenbane. The baby Pauline (5) and the second oldest Kathleen (13) went together to the St. Augustine's Industrial School in Kiltillane, Templemore.

Back up Possibilities

1911 - Mary Cushen - 16 in Limerick Road (Tipperary West Urban, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Cushen	Mary	69	Female	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Mary	13	Female	Grand Daughter	Roman Catholic
McGrath	James	9	Male	Grand Son	Roman Catholic
Kelly	Thomas	2	Male	Foster Boy	Roman Catholic
Ryan	Patrick	4	Male	Foster Boy	Roman Catholic

1911 - Residents of a house 10 in Carrownreddy (Pt. of) (Tipperary E. Urban, Tipperary) - Tipperary Industrial School

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
McGrath	Catherine	12	Female	-	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Mary	12	Female	-	Roman Catholic

These back up possibilities aren't very good and there was only one Pauline McGrath of the right age in the 1911 census.

At the time of the 1901 census Michael and Margaret Dwyer were living with his parents and they had no children.

Michael parents are known from the census. Michael and Margaret's father are known from their marriage record. Based on the names of Michael's children he wasn't following the naming tradition. Therefore their names won't be used to guess the name of Margaret's mother.

Census Records

1901 - Michael Dwyer - house 6 in Ballycamusk (Holycross, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Dwyer	John	70	Male	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
Dwyer	Mary	80	Female	Wife	Roman Catholic
Dwyer	Michael	28	Male	Son to Head of Family	Roman Catholic
Dwyer	Maggie	24	Female	Daughter in Law	Roman Catholic
Carroll	Kattie	10	Female	Grand Daughter	Roman Catholic

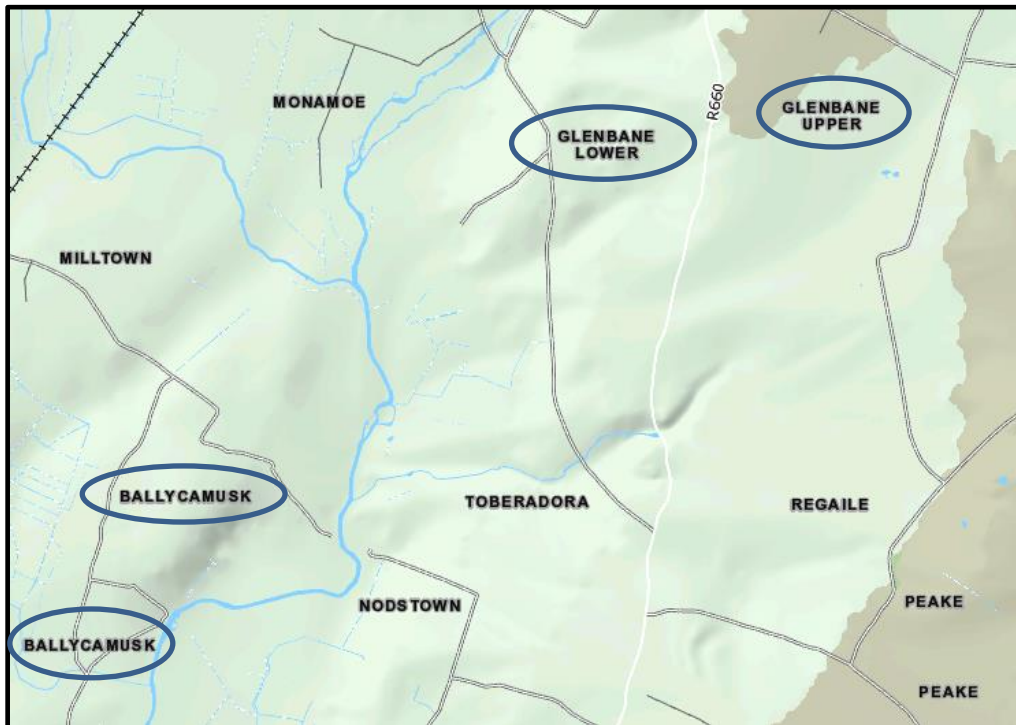

This is Margaret McGrath Dwyer living with her husband and her in laws. Margaret and Michael have been married about six years and appear to have no children as of the 1901 census. The civil birth records were searched through 1910 and no records were found for any of their possible children.

1911 - Michael Dwyer - house 8 in Ballycamusk (Holycross, Tipperary)

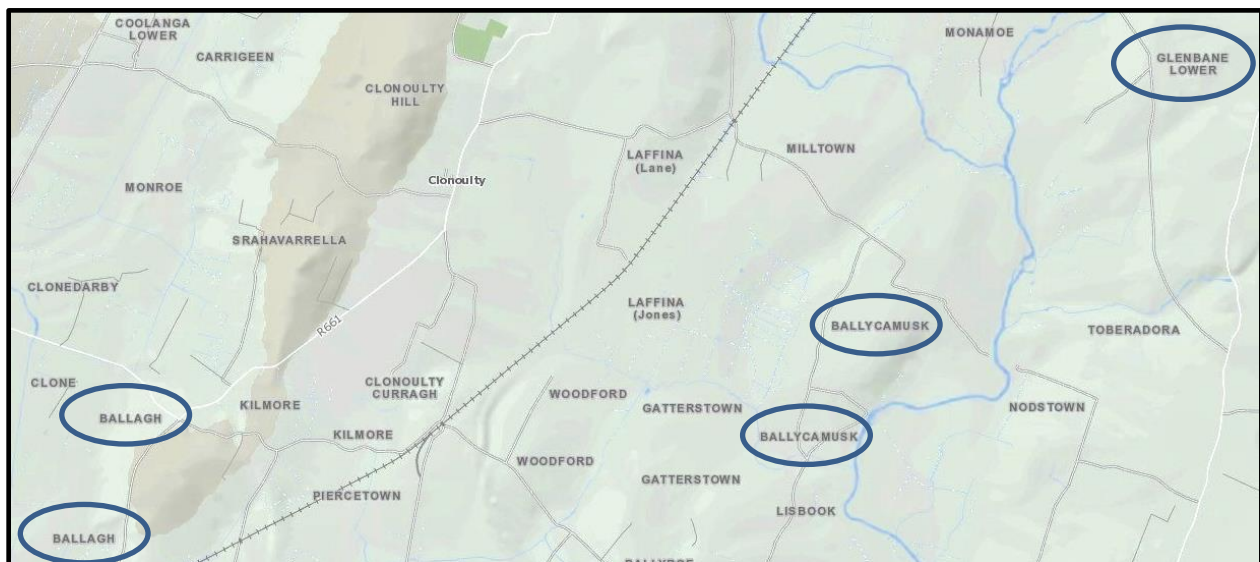

Birth Year	Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
1875	Dwyer	Michael	36	Male	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
1876	Dwyer	Maggie	35	Female	Wife	Roman Catholic
1902	Dwyer	Mary	9	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
1903	Dwyer	Katie	8	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
1905	Dwyer	Maggie	6	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
1908	Dwyer	Hannah	3	Female	Daughter	Roman Catholic
1910	Dwyer	John		Male	Son	Roman Catholic
1836	Dwyer	John	75	Male	Father	Roman Catholic
1834	Dwyer	Mary	77	Female	Mother	Roman Catholic

Adults never seem to age as expected in the Irish census. Michael only gained 8 years while his wife Margaret gained 11 years. As for Michael's parents, his father only aged 5 years while his mother appears to have grown younger by losing three years.

MAP - Area in Southern Holycross Parish

Ballycamusk and Glenbane (Upper and Lower) are all located in Holycross civil parish. The distance from the point between the two Ballycamusks to the point between the two Glenbanes is only about 3 km. On these maps (map.geohive.ie) the townland names sometimes appear twice although there is only one townland. Both Ballycamusk labels are within the same townland.

The distance between Glenbane Lower and Ballycamusk is about 2-1/2 km. Ballagh is about 8 km from Glenbane Lower.

★ John McGrath and Catherine Dempsey - Raheen, Holycross

The original interest in John and Catherine's family was the connection to Raheen found in the baptism records. An attempt was made to see if John was the father of Margaret (b. 1872, Glenbane) and Patrick McGrath (b. 1874, Glenbane). Their parents were James McGrath and Johanna LNU according to the Glenbane census records. A search was made of the Ballycahill and Holycross registers: Oct 1859 - 1876 and no marriage record and no baptism records were found for a James McGrath. The same search of the civil registrations also turned up empty.

A marriage record was found however for a similar but not the same person. This was a John McGrath of Cormackstown and Raheen, Holycross.

Analysis: Attempting to make this John McGrath fit in as the father of Margaret and Patrick McGrath of Glenbane didn't work out - there were too many discrepancies. (1) This is John and the marriage records of Margaret and Patrick gave their father as James. (2) This Margaret and Patrick were from Glenbane while John McGrath's Margaret and Patrick from Raheen and Long House. Raheen is about 5 km north of Glenbane. (3) There is a difference in the birth years of these two sets of Margaret and Patrick McGraths which could be overlooked if not for (1) and (2).

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
McGrath	Catherine	60	Female	Head of Family	Roman Catholic
McGrath	Patrick	24	Male	Son	Roman Catholic

This Patrick is a few years too young and this Catherine is the widow of John McGrath. The Patrick being sought had a father named James and would have been 27 at the time of the 1901 census and according to his marriage record was from Glenbane.

These are believed to be the parents of Thomas Long who married Bridget Ryan. The Ancestry Index to the Parish Registers was checked and no Thomas Long was found in this family. However, since the commencement of the Ballycahill and Holycross parish registers was only 1835, there could be additional baptisms for each of the Laurence Long families which were not recorded. The naming tradition assumption applied to the names of Thomas Long and Bridget Ryan's children yielded the names of Laurence Long and Margaret for Thomas' parents. Of course, this early commencement year also puts Laurence and Margaret's marriage record beyond the beginning of the church records. Therefore it is not possible to use the naming tradition assumption to predict the names of the parents of Laurence and his wife.

The Long Families of Rathkennan

* Rathkennan Long Pedigree *

All the families with a Rathkennan association, found in the records, were pulled together in this section. They were then arranged based on their generation. The top row of families in the pedigree chart above all had children who were baptized in the same decade. It is assumed that they are related and the dashed lines indicate a possible common set of parents. The Rathkennan baptism records typically show up in the Ballycahill-Holycross RC parish registers, which sadly commence in 1835. Patrick Long's first son was Lawrence and first daughter was Mary and so he was placed under Lawrence Long and Mary Brien. Michael's first son was named Michael and so he was placed under Michael Long and Honora Long. This same Long couple had a son Richard born in 1841 and Richard Long marriage record gave his father as Michael Long and so he was placed under this couple.

The Longs of Lisheenataggart, Loughmoe West

* The Ancestors of William Long *

The oldest generation in this pedigree chart is represented by Philip Magrath and Winifred Ryan. A careful analysis of the Upperchurch-Drombane church records suggests this connection but the details of that analysis and addition supporting information will be presented and discussed in detail in “Reaching Across The Penal Times.”

Long	William	2	Male	Son	Roman Catholic
Dunn	Catherine	17	Female	Servant	Roman Catholic

Although Laurence and Johanna Long were still alive at the time of the 1911 census they couldn't be found in the on line records from the National Archives of Ireland. It is doubtful that they had moved and even if they had the census records cover all of Ireland. They were residing in Lisheenataggart at the time of their deaths: Laurence (1924), Johanna (1915).

The Longs of Glenreagh, Holycross

★ Richard Long and Mary Costello of Killenyarda

Family Tree From: “Reaching Across the Penal Times”

Richard and Mary Costello Long were the parents of Bridget Long who married Patrick Toohey (s/o William Tuohy and Mary Fanning). Patrick and his family immigrated to Norwich, NY in 1874 and then moved to Colorado before moving to Butte, MT in the late 1890s. Bridget and Patrick’s family is shown in more detail in the next section. Source: Clare Tuohy’s family tree on Ancestry.com and Holycross parish records transcribed by Clare Tuohy. Richard Long apparently was married three times.

These proposed connections require three marriage records to prove it or a headstone inscription that shows that Mary Cass did not die in the interval needed to disprove it. A simpler cause of the confusion would be that the priest wrote Connors instead of Cass in Mary Long’s baptismal record. Clare Tuohy has seen this Cass/Connors switch in other records.

1911 - Jeremiah Delahunty - house 26 in Ballynahow (Ballycahill, Tipperary)

Surname	Forename	Age	Sex	Relation to head	Religion
Delahunty	Jeremiah	45	Male	Head of Family	R Catholic
Delahunty	Maggie	36	Female	Wife	R Catholic
Delahunty	Johanna	7	Female	Daughter	R Catholic
Delahunty	Katie	5	Female	Daughter	R Catholic
Delahunty	John	85	Male	Father	R Catholic
Kelly	Denis	32	Male	Servant	R Catholic
Whelan	Thomas	16	Male	Servant	R Catholic

Jeremiah and Maggie have been married 9 nine years and had 2 children, both of who were still alive at the time of this census. This isn't compatible with the civil records. In those records Jeremiah's wife was Mary Long but the 9 years married is compatible with their marriage on February 24, 1903. The children Johanna and Katie listed in the census are compatible with Johanna (b. Dec 14, 1903) and Catherine (b. Nov 10, 1905). However, two extra children, John Delahunty (b. Mar 5, 1907) and Mary (b. Apr 7, 1908) are found in the civil records but were not listed in the census and the total number of children in the family was listed as only 2 born and 2 still living.

★ John Ryan & Johanna Long - Glenreagh

This family was selected based on the marriage record of John Ryan and Johanna Long. The Long surname was the primary interest and both John (Glenreagh) and Johanna (Tubrid) had connections to the Holycross area.

Civil Records

Marriage: John Ryan & Johanna Long - Glenreagh

March 1, 1870 - married at Holycross RC chapel
 Husband: John Ryan, Full age, Bachelor, Laborer, Glanreagh

Sps. James Ryan and Alice Ryan

Timothy Ryan and Judy Gorman

Possible parents of John Ryan

Church Records - Thurles RC & Ballycahill and Holycross RC

Marriage

February 15, 1831 - Timothy Ryan married Judy Gorman (Res: Brittas?), Thurles RC, Res: Moycarkey, Wit. Denis Ryan and Margaret Gorman, Priest: Rev. William Bymie.

Births

January 16, 1832 - Anto Ryan, Par. Timothy Ryan and Judy Gorman, Thurles RC, Res: None Wit. Daniel Brian and Anto Gorman.

July 3, 1834 - Mary Ryan, Par. Timothy Ryan and Judith Gorman, Thurles RC, Res: None Wit. John Devane and Margaret Butler.

November 4, 1841 - John Ryan, Par. Timothy Ryan and Judy Gorman, Ballycahill and Holycross RC, Res: Cormackstown, Sps. Denis Ryan and Margaret Ryan.

October 21, 1844 - Honora Ryan, Par. Thady Ryan and Judith Gorman, Ballycahill and Holycross RC, Res: Cornackstown, Sps. Catherine Ryan.

October 4, 1845 - Ally Ryan, Par. Thady Ryan and Judith Gorman, Ballycahill and Holycross RC, Res: Cormackstown, Sps. Patrick Ryan and Judith Hallorin.

Among the baptism sponsors for John Ryan and Judith Gorman's children are Timothy Ryan and Ally Ryan. These might be John's father and his possible sister Alice, Ally is a nickname for Alice.

Two nearby Laurence Long families with daughters named Johanna

Laurence Long = Catherine Ryan (Ballycahill & Holycross)

John Long - Oct 9, 1835, Cormackstown

Thomas Long - Jun 18, 1837

Patrick Long - Nov 14, 1839, Tobins Cross

Margaret Long - Feb 9, 1843, Cormackstown

Mary Long - Nov 19, 1845, Cormackstown

Judy Long - May 26, 1848, Cormackstown

Laurence Long - Oct 27, 1851, Tobins Cross

Laurence Long = Margaret Ryan (Ballycahill & Holycross)

James Long - Mar 27, 1836

Judith Long - Oct 15, 1838

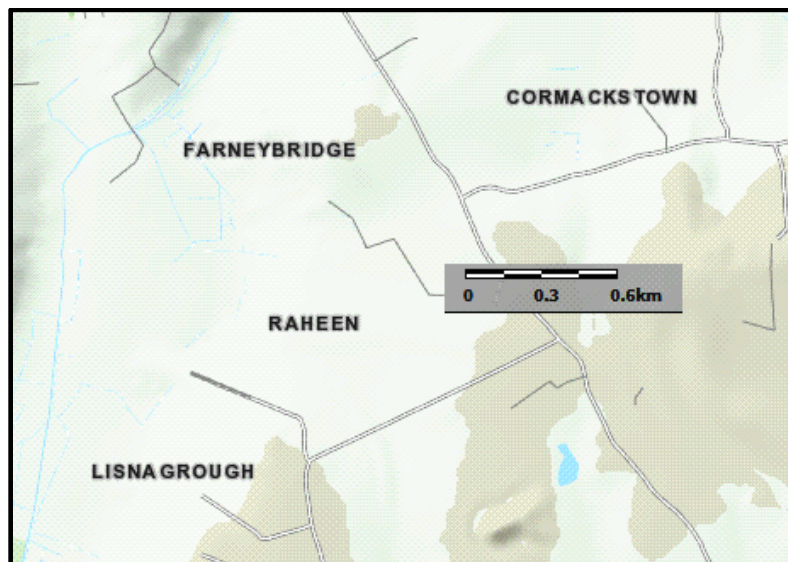

Ellen Long - Jan 23, 1842, Lisnagrough

Richard Long - Jul 30, 1844, Lisnagrough

Nancy Long - May 26, 1846, Lisnagrough

Both Judys in the above families are of an age where a marriage in 1870 is not a stretch. Tubrid is a sub-townland along the northern edge of the townland Raheen. Cormackstown is to the northeast of Raheen and Lisnagrough is to the southwest of Raheen.

The first Ryan family (Laurence Long and Catherine Ryan) have two children (Thomas and Mary) with the same names as two of the baptism sponsors of John Ryan and Judith Gorman's children. This is additional evidence that Judy/Joanna belongs to that family.

This map shows that Raheen, Lisnagrough and Cormackstown are close by townlands. Tubrid is a sub-townland along the northern border of the townland of Raheen.

Populating The Pedigree Chart

The Pedigree Chart

The large number of generations represented on the pedigree charts found in this paper makes it almost impossible to describe the relationships in a general and unambiguous manner. However, such an attempt will be made. At the bottom of the pedigree chart are the children who represent the youngest generation. On the particular chart shown below there are five generations represented - from the children to the gg-grandparents. The four youngest generations are usually well documented while the oldest generation is an extrapolation from the better documented generations. The oldest generation on just about every pedigree chart will be a stretch that represents the best educated guesses that could be made based on the available information.

A typical pedigree chart will contain at most five generations. The process starts at the bottom with the youngest generation which will closely resemble the usual family tree, but with a reduced amount of information. Moving up the chart the individuals in the older generations will be named by their relationship to these children. Therefore in a five generation chart there are: children, parents, grandparents, g-grandparents, and gg-grandparents. Accommodating this number of individuals in a single chart requires ignoring a few individuals, by only tracing out the ancestors of one of the parents on a single chart. At each subsequent generation, ignoring an individual here and there, will leave more room for the others. This is needed in cases where much more information is sometimes known about one individual's ancestors than the other.

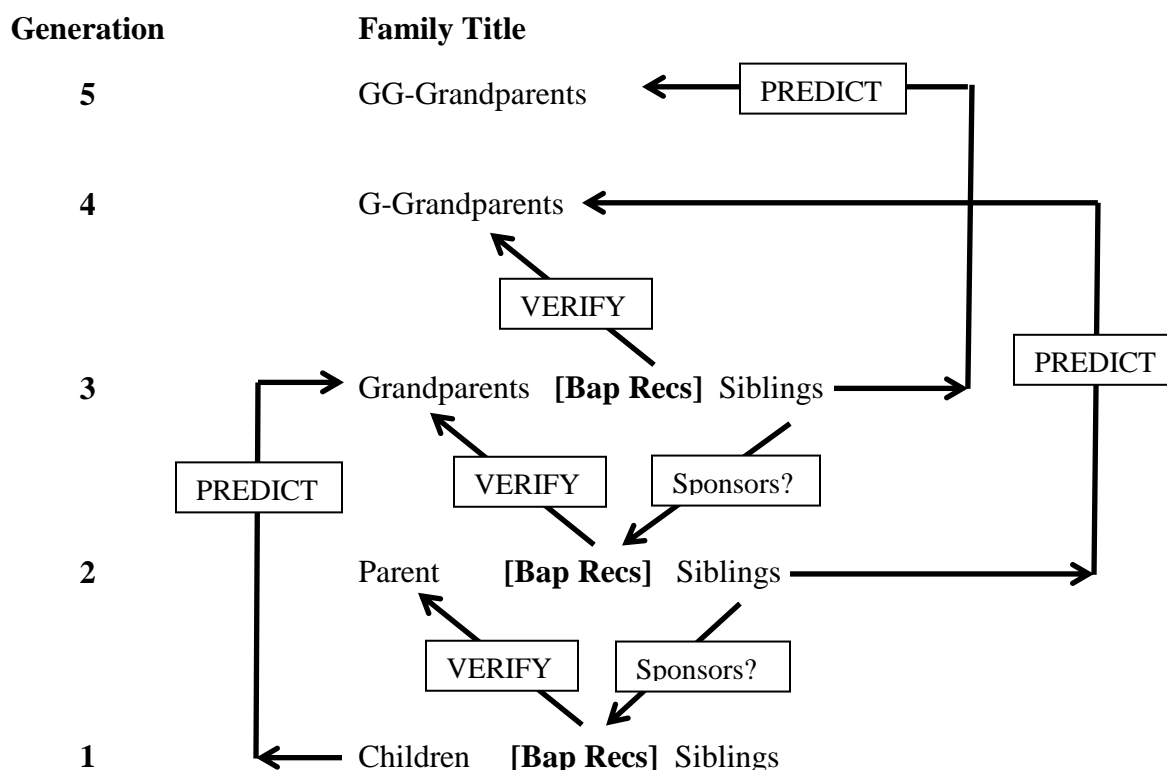

The large number of individuals represented on the chart requires that only the essential information be displayed. The information that accompanies the individual names will usually be restricted to birth, marriage, and death years in addition to a location if available. In the case of the oldest generation this type of information will probably not be available, especially in those cases where the names have usually been determined or proposed through the naming tradition assumption. It is still necessary that this oldest generation convey as much information as possible. If the names of the individuals in the oldest generation have not been found in any records, i.e. they are inferred from the naming tradition or other means, then they will be displayed in italics and will not be bolded.

An estimate of the reliability of the proposed names in each generation needs to be made and in some manner that estimate needs to be indicated in the pedigree chart itself. The reasons for the variation in the reliabilities are dependent on the ability to determine the names of all the children in the family. This can be difficult when the marriage has taken place prior to the commencement of the parish registers for that locality. If the marriage record was found in the records and the first baptism from that marriage is close enough to the marriage date then it can be reasonably assumed that there are no missing children on the front end. In the family tree case shown on the following page the vertical line extending to the predicted name of the individual is a solid line. If there is some uncertainty if all the baptism records have been found then a dotted vertical line is extended to the predicted name of the individual.

The basic problem plaguing the use of the pedigree chart and the cause of difficulties in trying to explain its use lies with the relatives and their multiple relationships within the family, ie. one person's grandfather is another's father. This labeling all depends on the individual's point of reference. The only way around this multi-reference problem is to pick a basic reference point and then use it throughout the construction of the pedigree chart. In this paper the children in the youngest generation are chosen as that basic reference point. All the other individuals in the chart are described by their relationship to this youngest generation. This is most easily understood by studying the diagram shown below.

Process Diagram

This process is driven by the existence of baptism records, or in some cases, birth records, and will therefore not continue forever, eventually the process will terminate at a final generation, when the records run out.

Combining Family Records

Group by Location, Sort by Generation, Rearrange by Naming Patterns

James McGrath = Mary Dwyer Phillip Magrath - Nov 29, 1823 Timothy Magrath - Aug 2, 1826 Patrick Magrath - Mar 7, 1831 Mary Magrath - Jun 29, 1832  All of Clonoulty	Initially a connection of Patrick McGrath (Column 2) to the 1 st James McGrath family in column 1 was attempted. However their Patrick had died young. The second attempt, connecting the 2 nd James McGrath in (Column 1) to the Patrick McGrath family (Column 2) was more successful.

Table structure: The table initially contains only families from a single townland, satisfying (3) geographic proximity. Sorting families among the three columns handles (2) age compatibility. The column matching implements the (1) naming tradition assumption in building family connections. Stook is a sub-townland in the townland of Gortnaculrush. Gortnaculrush is in the Electoral Division of Clogher, in Civil Parish of Clogher, in the Barony of Kilnamanagh Lower, in the County of Tipperary

The baptism records from the Irish Parish Registers have previously been grouped into families and organized by surname and RC parish [see Note 1]. Within each parish the families are organized into separate tables for male and female parents of the selected surname. In Clonoulty RC parish, for example, there is one set of tables for male McGraths and a separate set of tables for female McGraths. An individual family tree was created for each family that had four or more baptism records. Within one set of tables the families are organized by the given name of the McGrath parents. For a given McGrath first name the families are ordered within the table by the date of the first baptism for each family. This provides an approximate chronological order within the table.

The goal of the exercise in this document is to create larger families by combining the earlier constructed individual families described in the previous paragraph. This process is guided by assuming that (1) families used the naming tradition: 1st born son and daughter are named after the paternal grandparents and the 2nd born son and daughter are named after the maternal grandparents; (2) the fathers' age is compatible with the family's placement on the time line sequence; (3) the families are geographically close. The selection of the connections between the families is such that the number and degree of any inconsistencies are minimized.

This approach for matching up the families is not perfect since some families didn't always consistently follow the naming tradition; marriages occurred between individuals who did not live geographically close to each other and sometimes there were large differences in the ages of the couple being married.

One way to implement this process is to create a table of three columns and with as many rows as needed. In reviewing the RC parish of Clonoulty Male Table [see mcgrathsearch.com → The Families in Ireland → Family Records → McGrath → Clonoulty], which started in 1804, the families within a given townland seem to fall into three approximate groups: 1804-1815; 1830-1850; 1860-1875. These are approximate time periods but the grouping effect is easily discerned. For a given townland, with a significant number of families, copy and paste the families from the web site PDF table into the appropriate time column of the three column table just created. Then try to match up the families in the 2nd (middle) column with one of the families in the first column. There might be multiple families in the 2nd column that match up with a family in the 1st column. Then repeat the process lining up families from the 3rd column with families in the 2nd column. Again, many to one matches are permissible.

In the three column table above an apparent match up has been found for three male McGrath families in the sub-townland of Stook. They are obviously geographically close, since they are all in the same townland (Gortacoolrush). The age differences seem compatible (handled by the column sorting) and the naming tradition along the male line is seen to have been followed consistently. This appears to be a perfect match except for one thing. The Patrick Magrath baptized in 1815 cannot be the Patrick McGrath in the 2nd column because the 1815 Patrick died young and his family never reused the name for another child. This information came from the inscription on his father's [James McGrath (1796-1833)] gravestone in Clonoulty graveyard. This demonstrates that these process results represent a proposed set of family connections which are reasonable but cannot be guaranteed to be correct even though all three criteria are satisfied.

As a next step the geographic requirement can be relaxed. The surrounding RC parishes didn't commence as early as Clonoulty (1804) so there is no need to search those parishes for a James and Margaret McGrath family. Fortunately, there is another James and Margaret McGrath family in the nearby townland of Clonoulty (probably Clonoulty Curragh) in the same RC parish. There is a Patrick in this family who had been baptized on March 7, 1831.

Church Records - Clonoulty

As originally constructed there was only one James Magrath - Mary Dwyer family in Clonoulty RC parish. The families were constructed via an algorithm and although it could handle surname spelling variations and given name equivalents (such as Maggie, Peggy, etc for Margaret) it could not resolve families of identical names. In Clonoulty there were two James Magrath and Mary Dwyer families. The separation of these two families required user intervention and special tools were provided to accomplish the separation without ruining the structure of the spreadsheet.

The original merged family showed an alternating residence pattern between Stook (Gortnaculrush townland) and Clonoulty. This alternation is not unusual but a couple baptism dates were too close together - less than 9 months apart. A search was made for multiple marriage records with the following results:

February 10, 1823 - James Magrath married Mary Dwyer, Res: None
Wit. Tim Dwyer, John Quinlan and Phillip Magrath. Priest: Rev. P. Molony.

No marriage record was found for James Magrath and Mary Dwyer of Stook from 1815 all the way back to the beginning of the Clonoulty records in 1804. In this case it was possible to make a clean separation of the Stook and Clonoulty baptisms. The two separated families are shown in column 1 of the table on a previous page.
